1 -->I have followed this issue for a number of years now, and try as I may to keep an open mind, I don't believe Yucca Mt. Site is the solution for nuclear waste. It seems the government (the power structure in general) has spend too much money and time to do anything other than push this project ahead no matter what negative information they find.

I don't have the answer, but I do know the wrong solution is going to be costly. I also understand the pressure "TO DO SOMETHING!" However, I urge you to resist it.
