My family and I wish to voice our objections against the nuclear depository site at Yucca Mountain and the overland routes, wherever taken. Our major concern is (like everyone here in Nevada) what will happen to the State of Nevada, let alone, the city of Las Vegas with its multi-million mega resorts and residents, in the event of a spillage or accident. Will we have time to relocate and who pays for this relocation? We understand radioactive material will be dangerous for some 10,000 years. Further, all this radioactive material will be coming from states that have used this product! Why then not have these states store their own waste! These states benefitted from its usage and made millions of dollars from its usage. Why pass their garbage to Nevada? Since when was it alright for others to dump their waste onto their neighbors?

Somehow, Nevada residents are being shoved into a situation where we have little or no say so as to what will be stored in our backyards.

With this said, we again object to the depository site at Yucca Mountain and whatever routes to the site.
