 I will do everything in my power to see that this site never gets completed.
 In a state where earth quakes occur - building a dump site in limestone is equivalent to putting Dracula in charge of the National Blood Bank! Out of my family of four mother and father dies of cancer, sister and I have survived so far. What we had in common was the dumping of waste at Brookhaven National Labs which leached into the water table. The area surrounding the Lab has the highest rate of Breast Cancer and Lymphoma. If the Bush administration so wants to ramp up nuclear power - why doesn't he become a good American and build the dump site on his ranch?
