Hello,

I have been looking for a way to submit my opinion on this matter for a very long time, so here goes. I am all for the storage of waste in the yucca mtn. facility as long as it does not have to go through the main part of Las Vegas. Not because I am afraid of being contaminated, but to keep the protesting tree huggers from clogging traffic any more than it already is. I would propose that there be a rail system built at a convenient location or locations entering the area. I am of the opinion that the area is the only suitable location in the U.S. for the stuff. Maybe you could convince others that are on the edge by creating some sort of royalty for area residents such as Alaska has for the oil companys. Anyway, good luck. Remember that there are people out there who still think that milk is manufactured in a grocery store!!

Thank You,

Gary Clifton
