 I never liked the idea in the past, but due to the world situation and the threats against us, I do not want this in my state. The terrorists were here long enough to look up information on this project and create some deadly plans as they have shown they can do. The news cast on this project alone could explain too much to people like that. There must be someplace in this country where people do not live so close, to bury this and not risk terrorism or earthquakes. This is something that needs to be re-thought out, due to the situation we as a nation are now facing. I think we all have learned to be more cautious of what we do. And this certainly is something to be cautious about. Thank you, Karen
